

COLLEEN ALLEN

Colleen Allen is a designer based in New York City. She began her education at Parsons School of Design and graduated from Central Saint Martins in 2019 with a BA Fashion Design Menswear degree. She is debuting her collection at New York Fashion Week September 2020.

Digital technology allows the designer to envision a different future, expanding beyond the constraints of the physical world to create a multidimensional experience of embodiment. The clothing itself reflects this, utilizing upcycled materials, which exist both as their original objects and transform into a new shape and functionality. By integrating upcycled materials, as well as working with digital technologies outside of the traditional fashion experience, she engages a new set of practices which aim to disrupt established systems of design.